Transition Counselor

Keyes Realty

We joke that at this stage of my career, I have forgotten more real estate than most agents know. As a Senior Real Estate Specialist (SRES) and a Transition Counselor, I assist vulnerable elders and their families with selling the current home and helping them to relocate to a safe community. Licensed in Florida and Connecticut since 1985, I work with clients through Keyes Realty and leading real estate companies of the world and have an extensive referral network of SRES Realtors.

Awarded “2020 Realtor with a Heart’ by the Florida Association of Realtors, I am fortunate to be able to provide guidance throughout the entire move process. My background includes a M.Ed. in Counseling and a Ph.D. in Educational Leadership. A recognized industry expert on hoarding, and author and speaker on topics related to senior transitions and move management, I not only assist vulnerable seniors but also share my experience with the involved professionals.

With my guidelines for hoarders and their families, they can make difficult decisions while realistically dealing with the necessary intervention -- an immediate plan of action leading to a lasting transition. This helps to improve the current situation and possibly even save a life.

Giving back and making a difference in people’s lives is my goal. I consider myself extremely fortunate to be able to share my knowledge and experience with those who may need me. Embracing Maslow’s concept of self-actualization, I am working on achieving my personal goal of reaching happiness and well-being.
