Samy Fischer, born 1967 in Caracas, Venezuela, demonstrated leadership early on, serving as president of his high school's student council. His academic journey led him to earn a degree in Electronic Engineering from Universidad Simón Bolívar. Samy's career began in project development for the petroleum industry, but he soon joined Procter & Gamble as a Diapermaking Manager. In this role, he played a key part in setting up diaper manufacturing operations across Venezuela, Mexico, and the United States, gaining valuable experience in quality control and production management.

Samy's entrepreneurial spirit blossomed when he founded several successful businesses in Venezuela, including Distribuidora Yomokam C.A., a wholesale seafood company, and Fish Market 28 C.A., a popular restaurant in Caracas. He continued his ventures by establishing Creaciones H2O C.A., operating a restaurant in the bustling Sambil Mall, and later, OD Suministros C.A., an office supplies company that expanded to Puerto La Cruz.

In 2018, Samy moved to Miami, Florida, where he co-founded Fish Level Corp/Peskados, leading the company to significant growth through innovative product development and strong client relationships, especially in the home delivery market. Following a personal loss, he became involved in the Grandpass project, aiming to raise awareness about the importance of emergency response systems for the elderly.

Samy's life is a testament to resilience, adaptability, and entrepreneurial success, marked by his ability to turn challenges into thriving businesses across diverse industries.
